Program Summary:

Studies by the National Reading Panel show that struggling learners benefit most from a reading program that is specifically designed to meet their learning style, receives one-on-one instruction from highly qualified teachers and uses multisensory instructional methods. A challenge faced by schools implementing the READ Act relates to the need for ongoing professional development and training for school intervention programs that include these instructional methods. The real challenge in the delivery is that school personnel will change from year to year and the process of professional development must be started again at additional costs. Step to Success eliminates this challenge. Schools can now schedule reading intervention sessions with our highly trained and experienced teachers 3 to 5 times a week using the scientifically proven Lexia Core5 curriculum through our virtual classroom. Students work with a real life teacher from their school computer. We have a proven track record of student achievement. We guarantee a student will gain a full grade level or it's free until they do.
