

How LSTA Funding from IMLS Benefits Colorado Libraries, Staff, and Residents

COLORADO
Department of Education

IMLS IS THE MAIN FUNDING SOURCE FOR MORE THAN 30 DIFFERENT LIBRARY SERVICES AND PROGRAMS IN COLORADO

Colorado receives almost $3 million from IMLS (Institute for Museum and Library Services) for LSTA (Library Services and Technology Act). This is roughly 61% of the State Library's operational total. State funds make up the other 39%.

LSTA funding supports most State Library services for Colorado libraries including: the Colorado Talking Book Library; the Library Research Service; early learning programs; professional development programs for school library staff; library leadership and trustee support; institutional libraries; digital collection and technology solutions; and state publications.

Besides funding these ongoing projects that enhance library services statewide, LSTA has been used to support the creation of many familiar regional programs such as Colorado Historic Newspapers Collection, Plains to Peaks Collective, Growing Readers Together, and other local projects to improve literacy, learning, collections, adult and teen services.

LSTA FUNDS EITHER FULLY OR PARTIALLY SUPPORTS THESE SERVICES

WHAT IS IMLS AND LSTA*?

The Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) manages the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA), also called the Grants to States program. It is the largest source of federal funding support for library services in the U.S. Using a population-based formula, more than $168 million is distributed to State Library Administrative Agencies (SLAAs, or state libraries) every year. In 2021, an additional $178 million in ARPA funding was distributed to the states.

For more than 50 years, the Library Services and Technology Act Grants to States program and its predecessor programs under the federal Museum and Library Services Act (20 U.S.C. 9101) have supported the delivery and improvement of library services in the U.S.

While the law has undergone numerous reauthorizations of time, the basic function of the program, which merges federal priorities with state-defined needs, continues to this day.

Approximately 29% of Colorado grants to states funds in recent years have supported library services for the blind and physically handicapped and state institutional libraries. The program funds are also used to meet the needs of the current and future library workforce.
